Following publication of the original article [1], it was brought to our attention that the article had published with the following errors:

In the Abstract, line 2:

“The Yemeni people have been are left to fend for themselves” should be “The Yemeni people have been left to fend for themselves”.

On page 2

“The COVID-19 has pandemic shown what a modern global crisis looks like” should be “The COVID-19 pandemic has shown what a modern global crisis looks like”.

Lastly, in author details:

“Geography, The Royal Holloway University of London” Should be “Geography, Royal Holloway University of London”.

The original article has since been updated to correct these errors. Thank you for reading.
